Meet Clint Firth— West Ridge Academy Academic Director

Clint's first career was as a technology executive, eventually becoming the CEO of a small technology business. In 2006 Clint decided to follow his heart and try his hand at teaching. Since then he has spent six years as a math and music teacher, and seven more as an administrator in the private residential treatment centers.

Clint is licensed as a Math and ESL teacher, and is expected to complete his Master's of Educational Leadership in Spring 2021. He also graduated from Brigham Young University with a Bachelor's in International Politics.

Clint is passionate about turning at-risk teens into excited and successful students. Clint loves athletics (especially basketball!), music, and the outdoors to help kids find outlets for their creative energy and connections to the art of living. Clint loves all kinds of music, but especially rock'n roll, and he loves collaborating with students to create foot stomping on-stage experiences as well as studio production of music.

He is married to the love of his life, Alison, and they are the parents of five sons and one daughter. Outside of work Clint enjoys gardening, basketball, playing guitar, backpacking, and anything he can do with his family.
